

WASHINGTON, SUNDAY MORNING, JUNE 20, 1897.

Schools Close Wednesday.

Special Clearing Sale

—OF—

Children's Dress Shoes.

WE are overstocked on Children's Dress Footwear—just the very kind you would like your young hopefuls to be active in on Commencement Day. Here's a chance to secure one or more pairs at lower prices than most dealers can buy them for at wholesale.

These Reduced Prices for Tomorrow and Tuesday Only.

Patent Leather Shoes—

of the best imported materials and the very best makes only—Boys' $3.50 hand-made Laced Shoes. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... $2.65

Youth's $2.50 Patent Leather, No. 1, Laced Shoes. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... $1.65

Misses' $2.50 Patent Leather, Laced Shoes. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... $1.65

Children's Sling, same style as Misses'. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... $1.35

Black or Tan Boots—

Girls' and Boys' Spring Heel, Brown, Black, Blue or Button. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... 69c

Misses' $1.50 Laced or Button, Black or Brown, pointed toe only. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... $1.19

Boys' $2.50 Laced, Black or Brown, pointed toe only. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... $2.35

Spring Heel Sandals—

with pretty bows—Misses' and Children's sizes—White, Black, or Brown Kid, hand-sewn, turn sole. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... 69c

Ladies' or Misses' Spring Heel, Fine Patent Leather Sandals. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... 95c

Finest White Kid-lined Misses' Brown or Black Sandals. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... $1.19

Ladies' Spring Heel Sandals, Black or Brown, kid sole. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... $1.37

Boys' Oxford Ties—

Hand-sewn Patent Leather and Kid Ties, all sizes. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... 95c

Youth's $1.50 Best Made Ties, of brown or black vicuña. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... $1.19

Boys' $2 Quality Ties, black or blue. TWO DAYS ONLY AT..... $1.37

In addition there will be all this week

Special Low Prices on Ladies' Oxford Ties.

Special Prices on Men's Tan and Black Oxfords.

Special Prices on Bicycle Footwear.

Wm. Hahn &amp; Co.'s

RELIABLE SHOE HOUSES.

930 and 932 Seventh St. N. W. 1914 and 1916 Pa. Ave. N. W.

233 Penna. Ave. S. E.

THE EVER GLORIOUS FOURTH

National Democratic Clubs Will Celebrate in Befitting Style.

A PATRIOTIC MASS MEETING

Arrangements for a Grand Demonstration on the Nation's Birthday—Hon. Joseph Sibley Will Preside and Senator Daniel Is to Deliver the Oration.

The National Association of Democratic Clubs, of which Hon. Chauncey F. Black, of Pennsylvania, is president, and Mr. Lawrence Gardner, of this city, is secretary, will celebrate Independence Day in an unusually impressive manner this year, purposing that the gathering shall be but the beginning of a grand revival of celebrations of the nation's natal day annually throughout the United States. The association will have the material assistance of the various Democratic clubs of the District and of the Democratic Central Committee.

Numerous weekly meetings have been held by the committee of arrangements, which consists of the officers of the National Association of Democratic Clubs, Mr. Thomas B. Kalbfuss as chairman; James L. Norris, J. Fred Kappeler, T. F. Blake, and Robert E. Mattingly, resulting in the completion of an excellent and appropriate program. The meeting will be held in the Grand Opera House, on Monday, July 5, commencing promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning, and will probably not be concluded before 1 o'clock. Seats will be reserved in the orchestra for ladies and their escorts, the upper part of the house being thrown open without reserve to the public.

The presiding officer of the day will be Hon. Joseph C. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, who has many friends in Washington. He will probably make an opening address likely to attract widespread attention, as he is known as a finished and forceful speaker. His address at the famous dinner, on April 13 last, in celebration of Jefferson's birthday anniversary, created quite a furore among the diners, it being a scholarly and beautiful response to the toast, "The Declaration of Independence." Mr. Sibley was a formidable candidate for the nomination for Vice President at the last Democratic national convention in Chicago.

Hon. John Daniel, of Virginia, will be orator of the day. He is so well known and so widely known that the mere mention of the fact of his presence at the meeting will assure a great and enthusiastic gathering. In addition to the speeches by the two gentlemen named, short addresses will be delivered by representative men from the thirteen original States, thus making the day one of rare oratory and interest. The Declaration of Independence will be read and the national anthem sung. Several other pleasing and instructive features are also contemplated. At 12 o'clock noon a salute of thirteen guns will be fired in front of the Opera House. In addition to singing by the audience, orchestral music will be added. The Opera House will be attractively decorated within and the national emblem flung to the breeze without.

As this coming event of July 5 will be the first pretentious celebration for many years in this city of Independence Day, it is expected that crowds will assemble to do honor to the memory of those who, in 1776, pledged to each other their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor in the issuance of the declaration of independence, which declared "that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." It is understood that the celebration on the 5th will be somewhat in contrast to the Tammany Hall meeting in New York, to which have been invited Governor Cleveland and William Jennings Bryan, Gen. Palmer and ex-Gov. Altgeld, Charles H. Fairchild and Hon. James K. Jones, and many like contrasting personages—some of whom will be recognized as having been traitors to the Democratic party in the campaign. At the Grand Opera House meeting in this city, will be invited only those who were loyal to the Chicago ticket and platform. It will be a thoroughly Democratic gathering, and it is believed by its promoters likely to exert a good deal of influence throughout the country.

BUCKSTERS TO BE SILENT.

Commissioners Will Not Permit Them to Call Their Wares.

The Commissioners have decided to hold to their decision prohibiting hucksters from crying their wares on the street. In a letter to Mr. G. Backenheimer, secretary of the Licensed Produce Dealers' Association, yesterday, the Commissioners, after referring to his request to have the regulations prohibiting the crying of wares modified, say that they have had the matter under earnest consideration ever since Mr. Backenheimer presented it to them, and have repeatedly conferred about it in the hope that they might find some practical way to accede to his wishes. The Commissioners, however, the letter states, have been reluctantly forced to the conclusion that it is not wise to make any change in the present regulation, as it would be impossible to establish any standard by which to discriminate between the noises that would create annoyance and those that would not do so.

Commissioner Wright, in speaking of the matter to a Times reporter yesterday, said that the Commissioners had arrived at the conclusion that hucksters must be restrained from crying their wares, in view of the fact that it had been found impossible to decide upon a pitch of voice to be used by the hucksters that would be satisfactory all around. A cry that would not be objectionable to a pedestrian on the street would be highly objectionable to a sick person in a neighboring house.

The Commissioners realize the fact that with the restraint imposed on their crying their wares the hucksters will be tempted to ring door bells to solicit orders. Commissioner Wright has advanced the idea of having each housekeeper who desires to buy from the hucksters post a small placard with the word "Huckster!" written thereon in a front window, to attract the huckster's attention. With such a device, which is in successful operation in several cities, nobody would, in Commissioner Wright's opinion, have any reason to complain.

Election of Senators.

The debate at the East Washington Debating Society was: "Resolved, That United States Senators should be elected by the people." The debaters were: Affirmative, Wheatley and Bride; negative, Tydings and Whitney. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative. The election of officers for the ensuing quarter resulted as follows: H. W. Wheatley, president; T. J. Tydings, vice president; W. R. White, secretary; and G. G. Whitney, assistant secretary. Vice President Trow presided.

Dr. Henry's Blood Tonic cures constipation, indigestion and regulates the liver.

EISENMANN'S GREAT REMODELING SALE.

We are compelled to almost give goods away in order to reduce our stock and make room for the builders.

Here is a fair chance for you to make money by buying from us at less than half price. No misrepresentation. No fake sale.

We don't advertise any article unless we have it in stock, and there will be no such excuse as you hear from so many fake advertisers: "We are just out of it."

Read what we will give you tomorrow:

Short ends of Chiffons, Lawns and Batistes, all the new patterns, worth 8c,

3 1/2 c.

50 pieces White India Linen; 8c and 10c grade,

4 1/2 c.

50 pieces of White Checked Nainsook, 10 different sizes of checks, 8c grade,

4 1/2 c.

100 pieces of fine 34-inch wide Organza, newest designs, regular price, 10 and 12 1/2 c.,

6c yard.

100 pieces of best Amoskeag Ginghams,

3 1/2 c.

100 pieces of best Dressmakers' Cambric,

2 1/2 c.

50 pieces of Cheesecloth, in all the colors of the rainbow,

2 1/2 c.

60 pieces of best Table Oilcloth, 1 1/4 yards wide; handsome patterns, never shown; sold everywhere at 20 and 25c,

13c yard.

100 pieces of best quality Mosquito Net, in all colors, 2 yards wide,

4 1/2 c.

1,000 large Pillow Cases, 45x36; made of good quality muslin; worth 12 1/2 c.,

6 1/2 c.

500 extra large size Sheets; large enough for the largest size bed; made of best seamless cotton; worth 50c,

39c.

1,000 Window Shades, with patent rollers; worth 20c,

10c.

One lot of Children's Dresses; made of gingham, percale and lawn; from 2 to 6 years; worth 35c,

15c.

One lot of 50c Children's Bathing or Lawn Dresses, nicely trimmed,

25c.

One lot of 75c and $1 Children's Dresses; from 6 to 12 years; made of most stylish washable material,

49c.

500 Ladies' Lawn Wrappers; worth $1.00; 3/4 length; with full sleeves and very wide in skirt,

59c.

One lot of Ladies' Linen Crash Skirts; extra full and wide hem; made to sell at $1.50,

69c.

One lot of Brilliantine and Fancy Novelty Skirts; lined and bound; worth $2 and $2.50,

95c.

1,000 Ladies' Percale and Batiste Waists; most stylish patterns in dark and light colors; nicely laundered and best fit; regular price, 75c and $1,

29c.

One lot of Boys' Percale Waists; in all sizes, 4 to 14 years,

12 1/2 c.

EISENMANN'S,

896 7th St., bet. H and I.

1924-1925 Penna. Ave.

ROBBERIES REPORTED.

The Police Informed of the Work of Thieves.

John B. Macaulay, of 1206 P street northwest, left his Warwick bicycle on the north porch of the Patent Office building Friday afternoon and entered the building. When he returned his wheel was gone. The theft was reported yesterday at police headquarters.

A. E. Westler, of 920 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, reports stolen from his residence, on the 16th instant, a meerschaum pipe.

Abner Howe, of 308 Thirteenth street northwest, reports stolen from his room Thursday evening last a pocketbook containing $3.10.

Rachel Runenthal, of 1812 Seventh street northwest, reports that a colored boy stole a pair of light mixed gray pants from in front of her store Friday afternoon.

Magowan's Divorce Troubles.

Trenton, N. J., June 19.—Ex-Mayor Frank A. Magowan filed in the court of chancery this morning an answer to the bill for divorce, filed by Mrs. Magowan No. 1, to have the New Jersey court set aside the mayor's Oklahoma divorce.

In the answer the ex-mayor asserts that the Oklahoma divorce is a legal divorce, and must be recognized in all States, and that the courts of New Jersey are without jurisdiction to set it aside.

Small Children's Views.

A little girl in town said the other day: "Oh, grandmother, don't make me two dresses just alike. I'm afraid people will think I'm twin."

THE CUP THAT GIVES CHEER

A Guatemalan Planter Tells the Secret of Good Coffee.

MANY IMITATIONS OFFERED

Ten Times as Much Mocha Consumed as La Grana—The Berry Not Unlike the American Cherry. A Pound of Coffee Per Tree—An Epicurean Recipe.

Mr. W. S. Hammond, a dark-skinned Anglo-Guatemalan, whose business is to grow coffee in Guatemala, was talking about his business at the Normandie last night.

Most of the Guatemalan crop is shipped to San Francisco and London, though the greatest coffee market in the world is Hamburg. Mr. Hammond stated that Americans as a rule are satisfied with the lower grades of coffee, such as are grown in Brazil, though Philadelphia, as a retail market, demands the best quality. Much of the Guatemalan product is sold in small bags of "Mocha," and is consumed to one that is grown.

To the uninitiated a coffee plantation might readily be taken for a cherry orchard, for the fruit of the coffee tree is very like the cherry in size, color and shape. Despite the fact that the berries grow in clusters, each must be picked separately, and the pickings occur three yearly. After the berries have been gathered they are removed to the machine house, where the "pulper" frees the berries from the surrounding pulp. Then the berries are fermented for twenty-four hours, after which they are washed, dried and returned to the machine house, where a device removes the thin hull known as the "pergamino." This result is sometimes accomplished by the natives with a flail or by treading with the bare feet. After the husk has been thoroughly beaten the chaff and grain are separated by being passed from one basket into another, a draft blowing away the lighter particles of matter.

In choosing coffee land the planter should select a mountainous district where there is plenty of moisture, and where the temperature does not rise above 85 nor sink below 62 degrees. The land is to be cleared, though it is a question whether a few trees for purpose of shade ought not to be left standing. There is a difference of opinion among coffee growers as to the superiority of sun or shade grown coffee. The consensus of opinion appears to be that a plantation sparsely covered with shade trees will produce the best results. It is said that coffee trees matured in the sun will overbear one year and will be unproductive the next. The Guatemalan plantations, however, are destitute of shade trees. When the ground has been cleared and leveled and dug three feet apart to receive the young trees. These are cultivated in seed beds till they are ten or fifteen inches high, when they may be set out. After transplantation they require but little care other than being kept free from weeds and chafing grasses. The coffee tree begins to "flower" when it is about two years old. At the age of four it should yield about a quarter of a pound of coffee, and it should be in its prime when six years old. Then it will yield a full pound of coffee. One pound to the tree is a good average, though some trees will yield five pounds each, and there is one famous old tree in southern Guatemala which is said to have produced twenty pounds of coffee in one season. The flower of the coffee tree is very pretty. Its white and delicate as sweet perfume, which is often inhaled by people far out at sea.

The coffee, before marketed, is classified into "carnacillo," first and second class, and packed in bags of 150 and 200 pounds, the best grades being packed in the smaller sacks. The coffee tree is not much exposed to insects. It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

It has certain enemies, but to overcome these entails no great difficulty. The coffee planter is an epicure in the matter of coffee, and Mr. Hammond recommended the following as a recipe for making matches black coffee: "Roast one pound of coffee until the outside of the grain is brown; then mix in a small teaspoonful of butter and the same amount of sugar, sprinkle a little brandy over the whole, and then cover with a thick cloth. Leave it for an hour and then grind. Boil one quart of water, when boiling put in the coffee and remove the mixture from the fire at once. Let it stand for a few hours, and then strain through a flannel bag. Keep the coffee in a stone jar for use, heating whatever quantity is required."

CROCKER'S.....Shoes Shined Free.....939 Pa. Ave.....Store Cooled by Electric Fans.

Why We're Busy.

BECAUSE a "Vacation Reduction Sale" is now going on!
BECAUSE the public realize that our shoes can be depended upon!
BECAUSE we are your friend after you've bought, and will cheerfully polish your shoes as often as you wish!
BECAUSE you cannot do as well anywhere else!

More Big Offers for Monday.

$2.50 Oxfords at $1.49.

Why buy $1.50 and $2 Oxfords when we offer you $2.50 quality for $1.49. Balance of 3 lots of Women's Oxfords, Black and "Buckram" can fit almost any foot. $2.50 grade—Now

$1.49

Misses' Shoes at 98c.

Children's and Misses' One-strap "Buckram" Spring Heel Low Shoes. $1.50 quality—Now

98c.

Bicycle Shoes at $2.98.

These Elegant Dark Russet Velour Kid Bicycle Shoes, high, full cut, very stylish and soft. Worth $4—Now

$2.98

For Men.

Tell your husband, son, father and brother about our big reduction in Men's Shoes. Few samples:

Men's $3 Shoes $1.69.

"H. S. & H." $3 Dark Russet Calf Shoes, 6 styles, the balance of 5 lots, in large and small sizes, as all the medium sizes have been sold. The regular price is $3. On Monday—

$1.69

Better get in for your size at 8 o'clock Monday to avoid disappointment.

Men's Elegant Soft Velour Kid Summer Shoes, in the stylish dark russet shade, soft as a stocking, and sold elsewhere at $4 and $5—Now

$2.98

Men's White Canvas High Shoes and Oxfords, same grade others sell at $4. On Monday—

$2.98

CROCKER, 939 Pa. Ave. Shoes Shined Free.

MR. HANNA IS CONFIDENT

A Conference With McKinley Before Leaving for Ohio.

DECLINES TO TALK OF CUBA

Says He Is Satisfied With the Outlook on the Eve of the State Convention—A Busy Day at the White House—Numerous Candidates for Consulships.

Senator Mark A. Hanna said yesterday, before leaving for Cleveland, that he was perfectly satisfied with the political condition in Ohio. He declined to say whether a resolution concerning Cuba would be introduced in the Ohio Republican convention. He said he intended to remain in Ohio until after the convention. He is perfectly confident that he will be endorsed without opposition.

Senator Hanna had a long conference with the President before leaving the city, and it is understood that the subject under discussion was Ohio State politics.

The White House yesterday was the Mecca of candidates for consular appointments.